Scouts may not bring certain electronics, including MP3 players, iPods, tablets and electronic games. Cell Phones are impractical and completely unnecessary: there is no signal (usually), no power charging and no reason to use it when you're in the North Woods. Further, the conditions in the woods are tough on cell phones. You may have a brick in just a day or two. Troop Policy says smart phone use is OK when used as a tool, but not when used as a toy. Keep this in mind when packing. Scouts who carry a smartphone must have a valid Troop 96 TechnoChip card. Use of the device is limited by the terms of the Troop Policy. The phone must be surrendered to a Troop 96 registered adult if its use violates the Scout Law.

Also prohibited are fireworks, sheath knives, bicycles and pets. If you are unsure whether something is appropriate to take to camp, please ask. Please note Scouts do lose items and the outdoors can be rough on things meant to be inside—items of sentimental value and high-cost (electronic) items are not recommended for camp use.
